TANNER AND THE DEMOCRATS. Tanner has a great deal to say about himself as a target for democratic arrows, and we observe that republican newspapers are speaking of him as a sort of martyr in the cause of the old soldier. That wont work.

Corporal Tanner ought to feel friendly before final action. All that the people Corporal Tanner ought to feel friendly toward the democratic party. He is the beneficiary of its liberality in pension matters. The observance of rules concerning these matters can as readily be enforced without arrest and imprisonment of pleasure-seekers, as with it. Four years ago a democratic administration appointed an ex-confederate soldier to be chief of the railroad division in the general land office. There was a Butte as the temporary capital, and—and general howl from the republican press about this preferment of a "rebel." A republican administration has just replaced Gen. Cadmus Wilcox, late C. S. A., in northern Montana than it is in average with Private Elam, late C. S. A., and not an objection is heard from a republican.

Now this would not be worthy of remark merely as an inconsistency. Inconsistency is characteristic of all partices and all wars.
